

Remarks from the Honourable Minister of Foreign Affairs, Regional Integration and International Trade, Mr. Vishnu Lutchmeenaraidoo, on the outcome of the US Presidential elections

I would like to congratulate Mr Donald J. Trump, the President-elect of the United States of America. We have followed with keen interest these elections which have generated much attention around the world, given the key role that the United States plays on the global stage. We have noted that democracy has once again prevailed.

The relations between Mauritius and the United States have always been very warm and have over the years grown in intensity. Indeed, the permanence of our State-to-State relations is embedded into our history. The United States remains a prominent development partner for Mauritius as well as for the African continent.

We look forward to working with the new US administration towards strengthening our cooperation both at bilaterally and in multilateral fora.
